Your Communication With North Island College

All communication from North Island College will only be through your myNIC email address. Please check your email regularly.

If you experience difficulty logging on, please go to <https://library.nic.bc.ca/studenttech> and follow the links at the bottom of the page.

Co-Op/Internship Work Permit

If your program of study includes a Co-op/Internship requirement, ensure you tick the appropriate box on your study permit application to request a work permit. Waiting until you are in Canada to apply for a work permit will result in long wait times. For more information, speak to your agent or see <http://www.cic.gc.ca/english/study/work-coop.asp>.

NOTE:

Students who change to a post-graduate program in subsequent term of study must meet all admission requirements. In addition, programs may be offered at a different North Island College campus location which will require students to relocate to another community.

All international students studying at North Island College are required to be enrolled in private medical insurance until they meet the eligibility requirement for the Province of BC Medical Services Plan. By accepting this Letter of Acceptance, students acknowledge that private information such as legal names, birthdate, gender and student NIC email address will be sent to our private insurer Guard.Me in order to enroll students in the required medical insurance upon arrival at NIC.
